WORLD AIDS DAY CELEBRATION 2025

World AIDS Day 2025 was observed at MES Medical College on 02 December 2025 with the objective of enhancing awareness on HIV/AIDS, addressing stigma and discrimination, and reinforcing institutional commitment toward HIV prevention and support. The event was organized by the SSGP and NSS in collaboration with NSS volunteers of MES Medical College. The programme aligned with the official theme of World AIDS Day 2025, “Overcoming disruption, transforming the AIDS response.” More than 100 participants, including undergraduate and postgraduate medical students, paramedical students, house surgeons, and NSS volunteers, attended the event, reflecting strong institutional participation and student engagement. The programme commenced with a brief introduction to World AIDS Day, its historical context, and current public health relevance. Faculty members highlighted the global burden of HIV infection, challenges in achieving prevention targets, and the need to address social determinants of health in HIV response. Participants were reminded of the role of healthcare professionals in combating stigma, promoting awareness, and ensuring equitable access to care for affected individuals.

Expert talk on HIV/AIDS

The keynote session was delivered by Dr. Lamiya KK, Associate Professor, Department of Community Medicine, MES Medical College. Dr. Lamiya conducted a comprehensive session on HIV/AIDS awareness, epidemiology, modes of transmission, prevention strategies, treatment advancements, and challenges in the current context. The speaker referred to the 2025 theme, explaining that healthcare systems must overcome disruptions posed by pandemics, socio-economic inequalities, digital divides, and service delivery gaps in order to transform the HIV/AIDS response. She highlighted the need for resilient health systems, strengthened community involvement, and prioritisation of vulnerable populations. A significant part of the talk focused on stigma and discrimination associated with HIV/AIDS. The speaker explained how stigma affects diagnosis, adherence to therapy, quality of life, and mental health, and urged students to adopt non-judgmental, patient-centered communication in clinical practice. The talk also stressed the importance of early detection, universal access to antiretroviral therapy, safe sexual practices, harm reduction strategies, and youth-focused interventions.

Student interaction and question-answer session

Following the expert lecture, an interactive session was conducted where students raised questions related to clinical management, post-exposure prophylaxis, pre-exposure prophylaxis, vertical transmission, stigma in healthcare settings, legal protections, and ethical considerations.

Students actively participated, reflecting their academic interest and awareness of current issues in HIV/AIDS care. Faculty members provided clarifications and encouraged further academic exploration of HIV-related health policies and research.

Pledge by students

All participants took a pledge reaffirming their commitment towards:

- promoting HIV awareness and prevention
- supporting individuals living with HIV/AIDS without discrimination
- advocating for stigma-free environments in healthcare and society
- contributing to evidence-based public health initiatives

The pledge served as a reminder of the ethical responsibility of healthcare professionals to uphold dignity, equality, and informed care.

Hostel-based awareness by NSS volunteers

As a continuation of World AIDS Day activities, NSS volunteers organized awareness sessions in men's and women's hostels of MES Medical College. These sessions specifically addressed:

- risks associated with injectable drug use
- unsafe needle sharing and its relationship to HIV and other blood-borne infections
- methods of harm reduction and early referral
- availability of counselling and confidential support

Participation and feedback

The programme witnessed a total participation of more than 100 attendees representing medical, paramedical, and NSS units. The diversity of participants facilitated a multidisciplinary understanding of HIV/AIDS and encouraged collaborative public health action.

Feedback obtained informally from students suggested that the session improved their conceptual understanding of HIV/AIDS, enhanced sensitivity towards affected individuals, and strengthened motivation to participate in public health outreach.

Conclusion

The World AIDS Day 2025 observance at MES Medical College was a meaningful academic and community-oriented initiative that combined knowledge dissemination, student engagement, stigma reduction, and peer-driven outreach. The event aligned with the global call for transforming HIV/AIDS response through resilient systems, informed youth participation, and inclusive practices. The active involvement of students, faculty, and NSS volunteers emphasized the institution's ongoing commitment to public health promotion, behavioural change communication, and community support. Sustained efforts through awareness, counselling, and evidence-based interventions will continue to play a vital role in HIV prevention and care, and MES Medical College remains committed to contributing to this global mission.

PRS COLLEGE OF NURSING

REPORT OF WORLD AIDS DAY

As a part of World AIDS day observance our NSS volunteers conducted various programme such as AIDS awareness programmes and Rali at Paliyode junction and inter colligate quiz competition at PRS College of nursing. 40 NSS volunteers participated. The programme inaugurated by Prof. Dr.Bhasura Chandrachood, Principal PRS College of Nursing and it was grant successes.

Introduction

World AIDS Day is observed globally on December 1st every year to raise awareness about HIV/AIDS, show support for people living with HIV, and commemorate those who have lost their lives to the disease. As part of this observance, our institution organized a series of educational and awareness-oriented activities aimed at strengthening knowledge, promoting positive attitudes, and encouraging preventive practices among students and the community.

Activities Conducted:

1. Quiz Competition:

On 28/11/2025 an Inter collegiate quiz competition on HIV/AIDS was conducted to enhance students' understanding of the causes, prevention, transmission, and management of HIV/AIDS. Students from various Institutions enthusiastically participated. Questions covered epidemiology, myths vs facts, preventive measures, treatment options, and global initiatives. The competition promoted healthy learning and encouraged students to stay updated with current health information. Winners were awarded certificates of appreciation.

1. Awareness Rally:

On 01/12/2025, an awareness rally ( From Paliyode to Alathoor) was organized on World AIDS Day involving all students of the institution. The rally aimed to disseminate accurate information and spread public awareness. Students carried placards, banners, and slogans promoting HIV prevention, stigma reduction, and community support. The rally received positive responses from the public along the route. Faculty members supervised and guided the rally to ensure safety and effective communication.

Poster Presentation

A poster presentation was conducted to encourage creative expression and deepen students' understanding of HIV/AIDS. Students prepared informative and visually appealing posters on topics such as modes of transmission, Posters were displayed in the notice board.

Conclusion

The observance of World AIDS Day 2025 was successful in promoting awareness, encouraging preventive attitudes, and empowering students to act as ambassadors of health education. ## National Mental Health Day

Introduction

World Mental Health Day is observed every year on 10 October to raise awareness about mental health issues and mobilize efforts to support mental well-being. Our NSS Unit organized a series of educational and awareness activities as part of the National Mental Health Day observance to help students and the community understand the importance of emotional wellness. The theme was “Mental Health is a Universal Human Right”

The programme aimed at reducing stigma, promoting healthy coping strategies, and encouraging individuals to seek help when in need.

Objectives of the Programme

- ❖ To create awareness on the importance of mental health and emotional well-being.
- ❖ To educate students about recognizing stress, anxiety, and early signs of mental health problems.
- ❖ To reduce stigma and misconceptions related to mental illness.
- ❖ To promote counseling services and support networks available in the institution and community.

- ❖ To equip individuals with coping strategies for daily stress and academic pressure.

Activities Conducted

The program was organized in collaboration with Mental health center, Oolanpara. The doctors conducted the awareness session on mental health to the relatives and patients. The NSS Volunteers organized the cultural program to the audience.

The observance of National Mental Health Day 2025 by the NSS Unit was highly impactful in promoting a culture of empathy, awareness, and emotional resilience. The program successfully encouraged students to prioritize mental well-being and seek help when necessary. The NSS Unit plans to conduct similar initiatives throughout the year to promote holistic health.

National Unity Day

Observation of Kerala Piravi

INTRODUCTION

The Kerala Yaanam is a week-long cultural and literary festival scheduled from 1 November 2025 to 7 November 2025, organized by NSS Unit SI-MET College of Nursing Muttathara. The event celebrates Kerala's heritage and promotes Malayalam language and creativity through a series of competitions and programs .

The celebration kicked off on 1st November with the inauguration of Kerala Piravi (Kerala Formation Day) by Dr. Asha S Kumar, Director SI-MET, marking the start of one week celebration, followed by the Bhaasha Prathijna ceremony. All the students , faculty members , office and non teaching staffs took the pledge.

On 3 November, the focus shifted to showcasing Kerala's traditions through the Kerala Yaanam – Kerala Heritage Exhibition, where artifacts and cultural displays educate visitors about the state's legacy; the day also hosted a poster-making competition that encouraged artistic expression related to the theme.

The next day, 4th November, featured two literary contests: a Malayalam dictation competition, that tests language proficiency and an Essay-writing competition that challenges participants to articulate their thoughts in Malayalam.

On 5th November, creative writing took center stage with a story-writing competition and a poetry-writing competition, giving writers a platform to showcase their narrative and lyrical skills.

The program on 6th November, included a Just a minute (JAM) competition , where contestants delivered short, impactful acts, and an Essay-writing competition that pushed participants to craft longer literary pieces.

The festival marked its conclusion on 7th November with a Quiz competition that tested general knowledge and a Literary valedictory session wrapping up the event with awards and reflections on the week's activities.

CONCLUSION

Overall, Kerala Yaanam blends cultural celebration with intellectual engagement, fostering Malayalam language skills, artistic talent, and community spirit among youth and participants through exhibitions, writing contests, and performance events organized meticulously over the seven days.

Conclusion

The NSS Volunteers actively participated in the events. Their contributions are highly appreciated.

INE,SME, PATHANAMTHITTA

JDT ISLAM COLLEGE OF PHYSIOTHERAPY

Introduction

The NSS Unit of JDT Islam College of Physiotherapy observed the International Day of Persons with Disabilities by conducting a Special Physiotherapy Camp in the morning session and a Cultural & Recreation Programme in the afternoon. The event focused on promoting inclusiveness, providing rehabilitation services, and celebrating the abilities of differently abled individuals.

Morning Session – Special Physiotherapy Camp

A Special Physiotherapy Camp was conducted at the Physiotherapy Clinic for 25 differently abled individuals. The camp was led by Dr. Sajeevan T along with Neuro, Ortho, and Cardiorespiratory speciality faculty members. Each patient underwent detailed assessment and received individualized physiotherapy management, including neurological rehabilitation, orthopaedic care, postural correction, gait training, and functional rehabilitation. NSS volunteers assisted in patient handling, registration, and therapy support.

Afternoon Session – Cultural & Recreation Programme

A Cultural and Recreation Programme was organized for 60 differently abled students from JDT Islam School for Differently Abled. Students participated in dance, singing, games, and group activities. Faculty members, including Dr. Sajeewan T, joined the celebration and encouraged the students. Ice cream was distributed to all 60 students, adding joy to the event.

Role of NSS Volunteers

NSS volunteers actively supported both sessions by coordinating activities, assisting participants, organizing cultural events, and ensuring smooth conduct of the programme. Their commitment and service were instrumental in the success of the event.

Outcome

- 25 differently abled persons received professional physiotherapy assessment and treatment.
- 60 special school students participated in inclusive cultural celebrations.
- Enhanced awareness of disability and rehabilitation.
- Strengthened community bonding and volunteer responsibility.

Conclusion

The programme successfully combined medical service and inclusive cultural activities. The leadership of Dr. Sajeewan T and the coordinated efforts of the NSS Unit made the event impactful and meaningful, promoting empathy, inclusiveness, and community service.

1. REPORT ON WORLD AIDS DAY AWARENESS PROGRAM on 01/12/2025

World AIDS Day Awareness Program was organized by the NSS volunteers of NS Memorial College of Nursing on 1st December 2025 at CHC Thrikovilvattom. A total of 48 NSS volunteers and 2 faculty members actively participated in the program. The event began with an awareness skit presented by the NSS volunteers, highlighting the importance of early diagnosis, prevention, and reducing stigma related to HIV/AIDS. Following the skit, the AIDS Day Awareness Pledge was delivered by Mr. Saju Sharafudeen, Health Inspector, emphasizing commitment to prevention, compassion, and community support.

Dr. Vaisakh, Medical Officer, officially revealed the theme for World AIDS Day 2025, stressing the need for collective responsibility in overcoming disruptions and strengthening the AIDS response. The program was addressed by Mrs. Neelima Vijay, NSS Program Officer, and Mrs. Dhanya Das, SNA Advisor, who encouraged students to actively participate in awareness activities and contribute to community health promotion. The event concluded with positive feedback from the community, reflecting the success of the awareness initiative in spreading knowledge and promoting a responsible approach toward HIV/AIDS prevention and care.

2. REPORT ON FIRST AID TRAINING CAMP ON 29/11/25

A First Aid Training Camp was successfully organized ON 29-11-25 at Anchalumood High School, Kollam, with the objective of equipping school students with essential knowledge and practical skills in basic first aid management. The program was conducted by 60 volunteers, who actively participated in planning and executing the training sessions. The camp focused on creating awareness about the importance of immediate and appropriate first aid response during emergencies and aimed to build confidence among students to handle common accidental situations effectively. The training program covered key topics such as first aid for cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR), management of burns, head injuries, fractures, foreign body obstruction, and drowning. Each topic was handled through well-structured sessions that included both theoretical explanations and practical demonstrations. Volunteers demonstrated correct techniques using simple, student-friendly methods, ensuring clarity and better understanding. Interactive discussions and hands-on demonstrations helped the students actively engage in the learning process and clarified their doubts regarding emergency care.

The program was attended by the Headmaster and eight teachers of Anchalumood High School, whose presence added encouragement and support to the initiative. A total of six faculty members coordinated and supervised the sessions, ensuring smooth conduct of the program and accuracy of the information delivered. The First Aid Training Camp was well received by the students and staff, and it successfully enhanced awareness and preparedness among school students to respond effectively to emergencies, thereby contributing to the promotion of health and safety within the school community.

3. REPORT ON ESSENTIAL ITEMS DONATION PROGRAM ON 8-12-25

An Essential Items Donation Program was organized by the volunteers as a charitable initiative to extend support and care to the inmates of SS Samithi, Mayyanad. The program aimed to address the basic daily needs of the inmates while fostering a spirit of empathy, social responsibility, and community service among the volunteers. As part of the initiative, the volunteers collectively gathered a variety of essential items, including toothpaste, toothbrushes, towels, food items, stationery, and other daily-use materials, which were thoughtfully selected to ensure their usefulness and immediate benefit to the inmates. The donated items were handed over to the inmates of SS Samithi as a helping hand, reflecting the volunteers' commitment to serving the underprivileged sections of society. Beyond the act of donation, the volunteers actively interacted with the inmates, spending quality time with them and engaging in meaningful conversations. This interaction helped build emotional connections, provided moral support to the inmates, and enriched the volunteers with a deeper understanding of compassion, empathy, and social inclusion. The program was efficiently coordinated by Mrs. Neelima Vijay, NSS Programme Officer, along with Mr. Amal James, HOD of the Psychiatric Nursing Department, whose guidance and support ensured the smooth conduct of the activity. The management and inmates of SS Samithi appreciated the initiative and the concern shown by the volunteers. The program concluded with a vote of thanks delivered by Mr. Saju Sir, Manager of SS Samithi, who expressed heartfelt gratitude for the generous contribution and the kindness extended by the volunteers. The Essential Items Donation Program was a meaningful and impactful experience, reinforcing the values of humanitarian service and community engagement among all participants.
